Re: Docket Item #07-16

Dear Secretary Dortch:

I am writing today to ask the Federal Communications Commission to consider a proposal that would enhance internet access in the United States.

As a member of the Dallas City Council, where I chaired the Council's Transportation and Telecommunications Committee, I saw the growing importance of the internet in our society, from both a consumer as well as a municipal government point of view. In our city, we expanded our website presence to make it easier for our residents to access city services. Also, our city departments made greater use of internet access on an ongoing basis.

Access to the internet is fast becoming a major issue within our society. Each day the internet seems to become a more needed part of our daily lives. As it grows in importance, so does the issue of assuring equal access for all in our society.

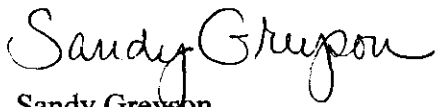

As the Federal Communications Commission moves forward in assessing internet access issues, I hope it will work to develop policies in support of equal and affordable access to the internet.

It is my understanding that the FCC has before it a proposal from M2Z Networks that would provide free nationwide broadband service across America. I hope the FCC will give this proposal its consideration, along with other proposals that will provide easier access and more affordability to the internet for many in our country. This is an important issue that deserves the attention of the FCC.

Thank you.
